

SALESFORCE SUPPORT SERVICES

Gain continuous value beyond implementation

Remove the headache of supporting your Salesforce investment

Free up internal employees that can be used for high value projects

Easily outsource your development and testing

Simplify the support of your Salesforce environment while advancing your continued success

Your business relies on its employees to have the bandwidth to perform their primary roles and not to be sidetracked with operational admin tasks. We understand that while it is imperative to keep your Salesforce services in shape, your organization shouldn't have to step away from mission critical work to perform support. As a trusted vendor with years of expertise, Sirius/CDW can cross this task off your list with our Support Services offering.

In addition to our world-class Salesforce implementation services, we offer support services sized right for your needs, eliminating headaches for you and keeping your valuable tools running smoothly. Our Support Services offering provides you with the technical support and infrastructure you and your customers depend on to ensure your Salesforce environment is running at peak efficiency. We've got you covered, so your team can focus on more important things that drive revenue and help meet your business goals.
